AskMe Corporation to Sell to Government through GSA Schedule

(Bellevue, WA) September 17, 2003 – AskMe Corporation, the leader in enterprise software and services for deploying Employee Knowledge Networks (EKNs), announced today that its products and services will now be available to federal, state and local government agencies through DLT Solutions' GSA Schedule (#GS-35F-4543G).

The collaboration between AskMe and DLT makes it easier for government organizations to obtain AskMe's products to create and manage EKNs. EKNs are software systems that connect employees with business problems to people who have the expertise to help them, and capture the solution for reuse. AskMe's current customers include Fortune 1000 companies such as Procter & Gamble, Honeywell International, and Eli Lilly.

"We have delivered measurable return-on-investment to many of our customers in the private sector. AskMe is looking forward to helping government agencies achieve similar results." said Udai Shekawat, AskMe's CEO.
